

Social Exclusion

Students Of Greece

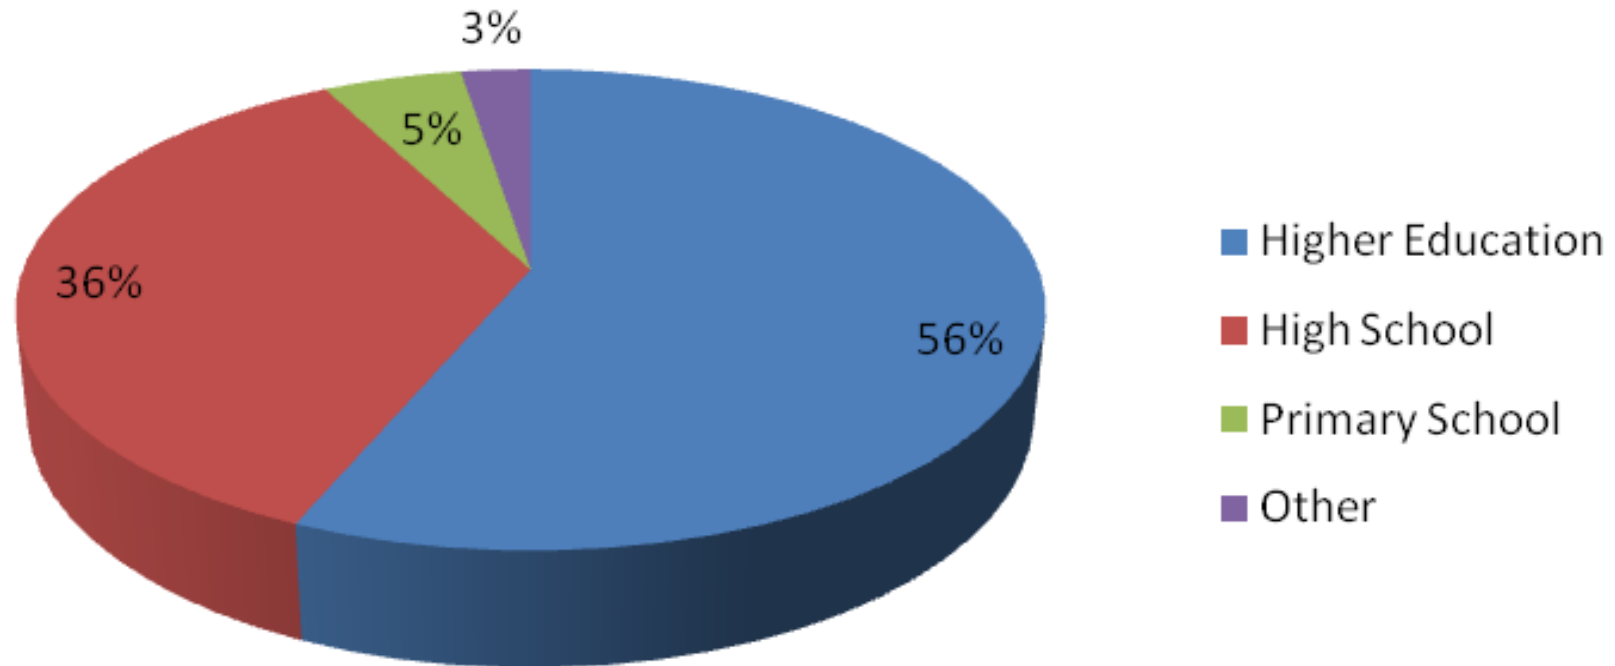

The number of boys who took part in the survey, is bigger than that of girls.

Parents' Professional situation

The significant majority of students seems to have two employed parents, while a smaller number of them only have one unemployed parent. The amount of students with two unemployed parents is the least.

Parents or Guardians' Qualifications

Most parents have either graduated high school, or obtained a university degree.

Area of Residence

Almost every student lives in a city.

Quality of The Area of Residence

The majority of students appear to be satisfied by the area they live in.

Type of Residence

The quality of students' houses seem to be in good condition or comfortable.

How Often Do Students Feel Happy At School?

Only a small minority of students have declared to never feel happy at school.

Do Students Feel That Their Colleagues Like Them?

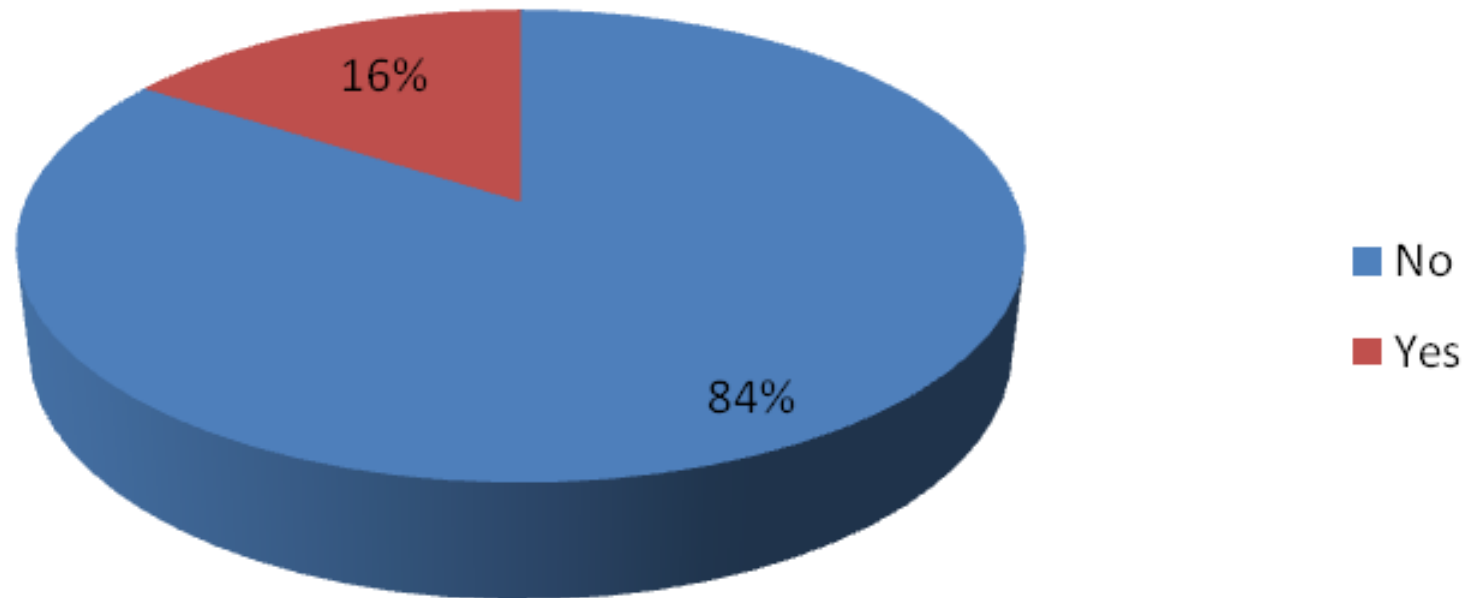

No student feels that they are not liked by their counterparts.

Discrimination By Classmates Due To Parents' Profession

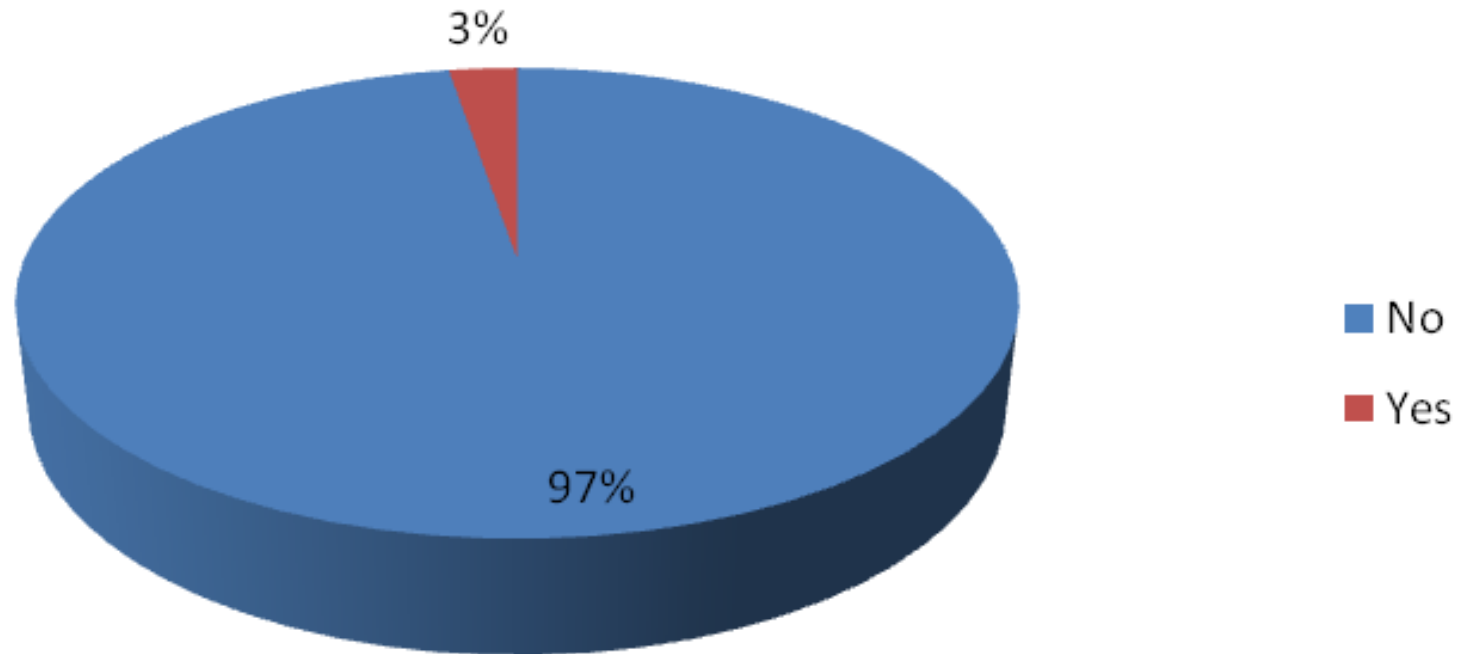

It appears that the parents' profession is not a cause of discrimination at school.

Have Students Ever Worked In Order To Help Their Family?

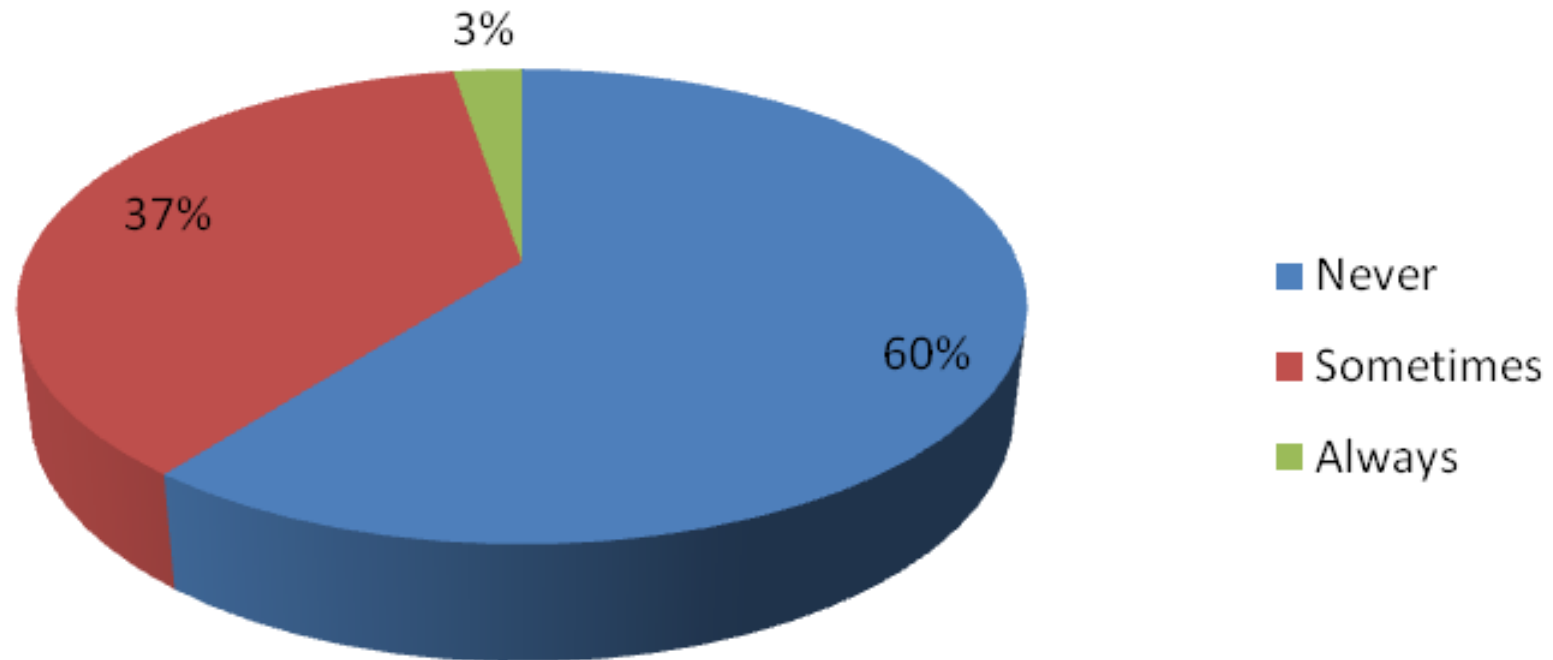

Most students have not had to work in order to help their family financially.

Discrimination By Classmates Due To Type Of Residence

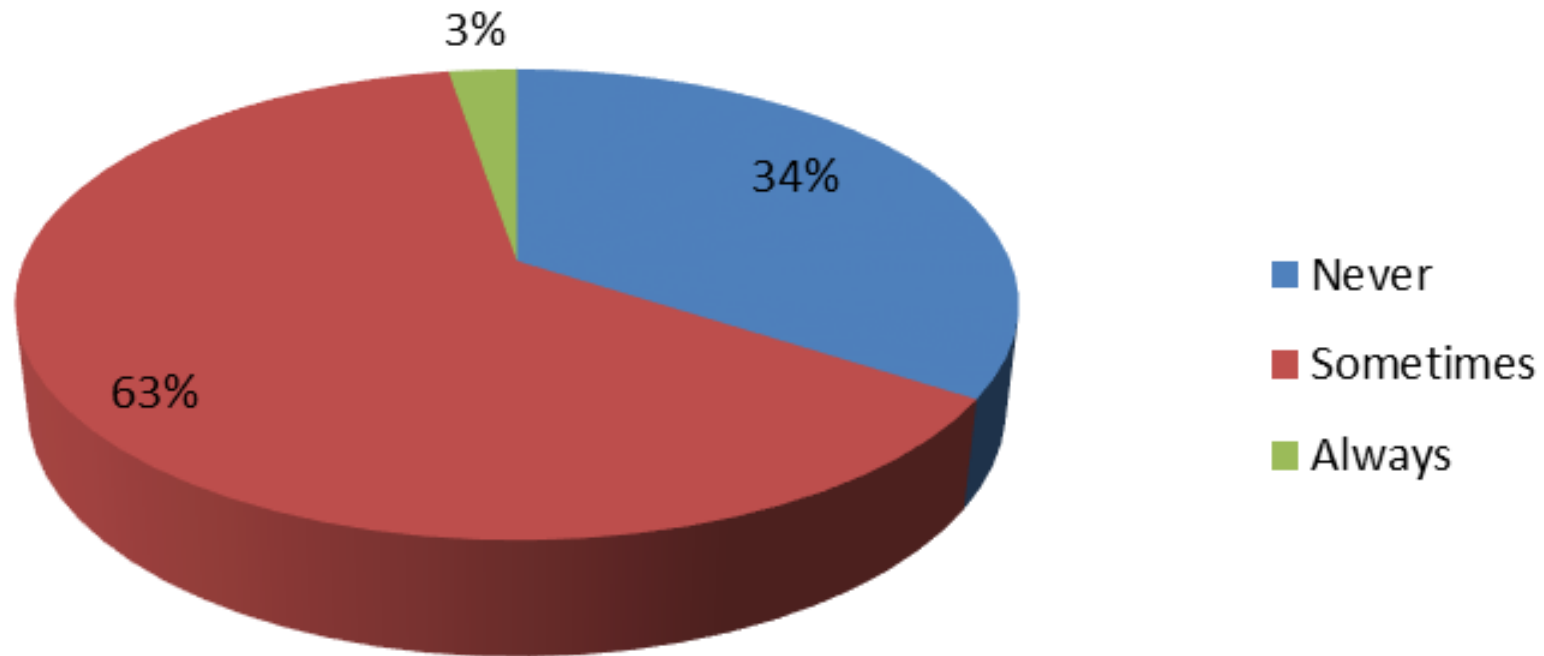

It seems that the condition of a students' residence is not a cause of discrimination a school.

Discrimination By Classmates Due To School Grades

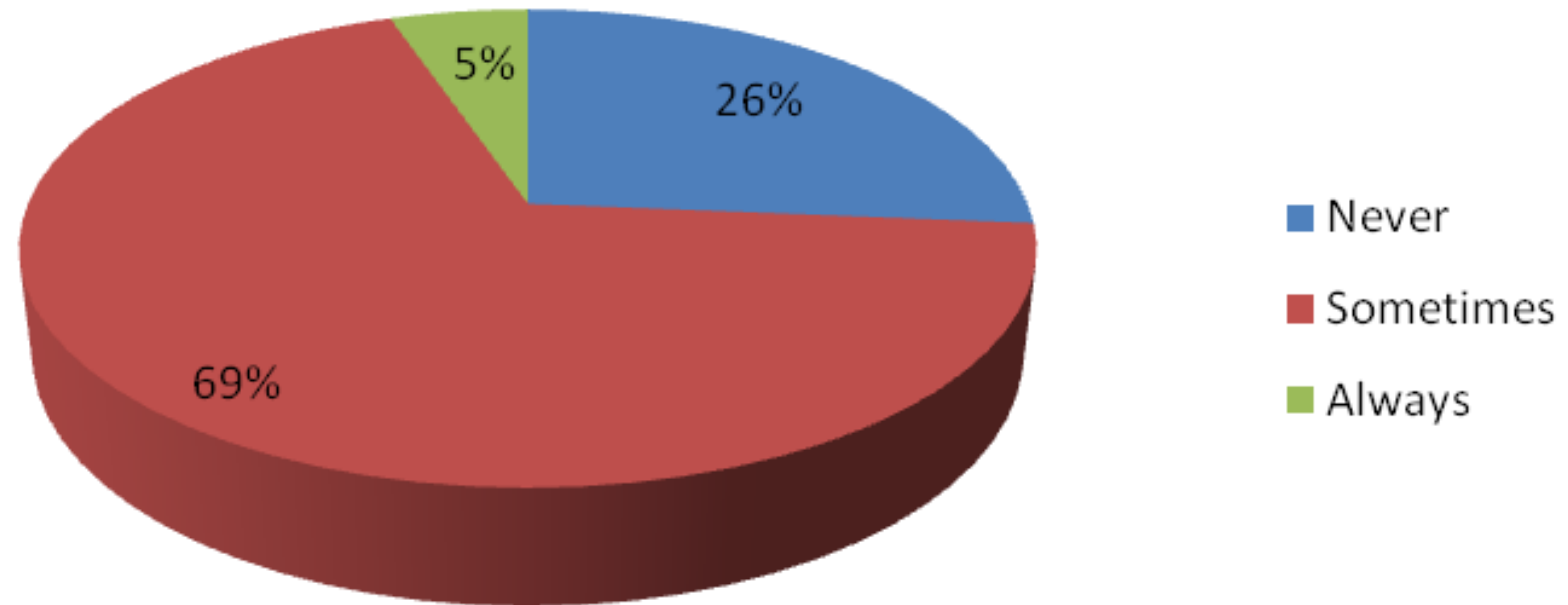

Sometimes school grades can be a cause of discrimination, but it seems that this is not often the case.

Are Best Students Treated Better By Their Classmates?

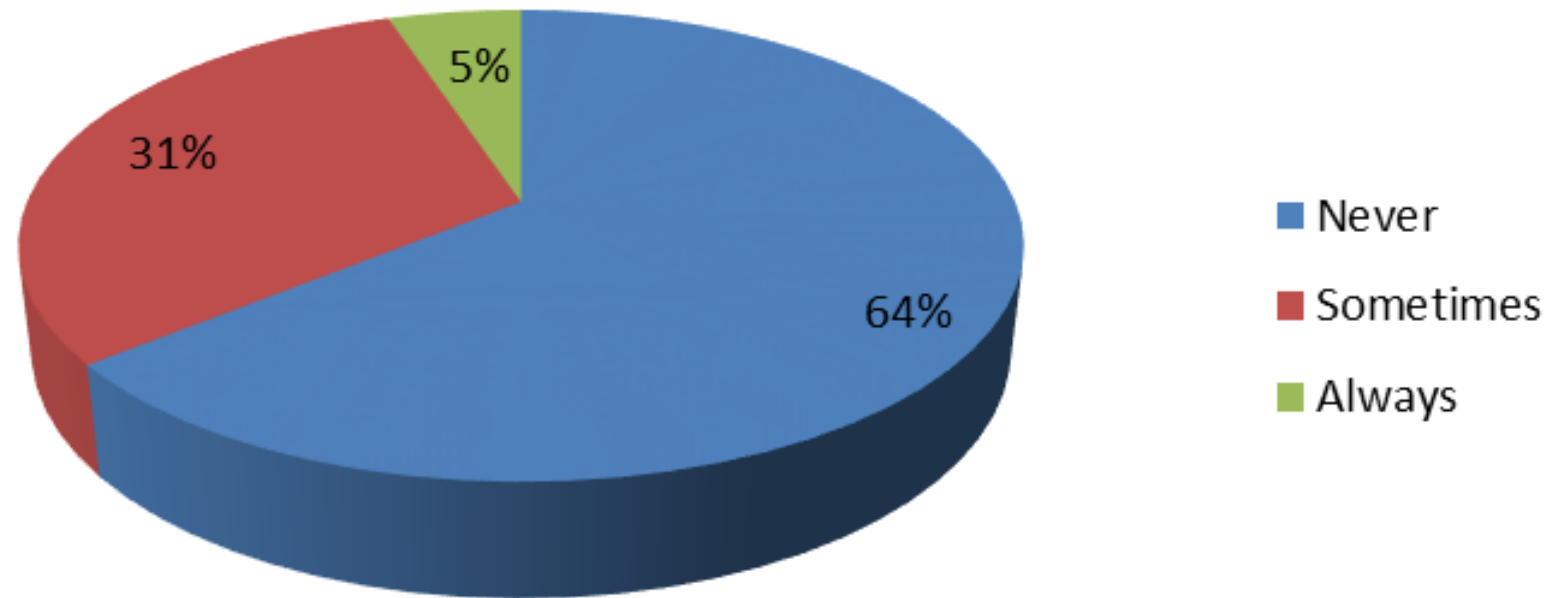

According to the results of the survey, students with better grades are sometimes treated better than the rest.

Are Worst Students Treated Better By Their Classmates?

However, it appears that students with worse grades are sometimes treated better as well.

Do Students Feel Excluded By Their Classmates During Breaks?

Most students do not feel excluded by their classmates, but there are some who do.

Why Do Some Students Feel Excluded By Their Classmates?

Those who feel excluded, attribute this feeling to either different interests, distance, lack of likability, or for other reasons.

FINAL CONCLUSIONS

After carrying out this survey concerning social exclusion and studying meticulously its results, a few conclusions have been made. The answers of all teenagers that aged from 15 to 18 years old, show that students whose parent/s are employed, and who are raised in an appropriate environment and a friendly home, are more likely to be happy at school. This conclusion is attributed to the fact that these students are less likely to exclude someone, or be excluded by their fellow classmates, as they do not believe that a parent's job or a student's house are valid reasons for discrimination. School grades can sometimes be an area of discrimination, but the opinions differ. Some think, that good students are treated better by their counterparts, while others support the exact opposite. Finally, it appears that some reasons that may lead to social exclusion are distance, different interests and fear that they are not liked by their classmates.

Created by the students of the
3rd High School of Volos, Greece.

